"13-Advocacy Against Sex Trafficking" is a student run, pro-bono organization, at the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University. "13" was developed to promote awareness of the crime of sex trafficking in the southwestern region. By increasing community awareness, providing outreach and support to victims of sex trafficking, helping to develop and amend current legislation, and providing overall support to other organizations who share the same ideals and values of "13," it is our desire that "13's" goal to end sex trafficking in the southwestern region will come to fruition.
